

I am opposed to further deregulation of ownership rules. I feel this will limit the little diversity left in what we hear, watch, and read. To be true to the political uniqueness that defines our free society, to encourage debate about different political views there must be protection against a very few wealthy and powerful entities controlling the media. I have heard many opinions on this issue and none I believe make good arguments for deregulation. Please listen to the American public which I believe overwhelmingly opposes deregulation. Thank you.
